
OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

GRADUALLY we are getting back to normal living after a five-week respite from newspapering spent traveling in Europe.

We know that you are getting bored with our reference to this trek (and probably tired for the so-called "Europe Travel Notes" which we have plagued you with for seven consecutive issues).

The last one appears in today's paper, you may be happy to learn.

You may not have liked 'em. But they certainly make our album more complete. And they very definitely helped identify some of the more than 200 pictures we took.

THE FIRST COUNCIL meeting we attended after our return certainly accelerated this back to normalcy bit for us.

The meeting lasted until 1 a.m.

The council chambers were packed. The audience was made up mostly of people from the 'westside' who certainly had a legitimate complaint. They cited the problems that the expressway is causing now during construction and the anticipated problems that will arise after the speedway is completed.

THE PEOPLE were frustrated and irate, and rightly so, over the situation which they termed was creating a dangerous traffic hazard for their youngsters on their way to and from school.

As a former "westsider" (we resided on Christopher Ave. for six years) we are well aware of the situation are are sympathetic to the residents of that area.

BUT, at the same time, we were a little disappointed that the good citizens vented so much of their wrath on the city council members. The city had taken steps to improve the conditions immediately after the previous meeting when many of the same people had sounded off.

A full report had been given in The Press. Many of the committee members were aware that definite steps had been taken. But somehow down the line there was a lack of communication. Some of the irate citizens began lambasting the city fathers before getting the full story.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina finally interrupted the tirade from the floor to suggest that some of the fire should be directed at the other agencies that were involved.

THAT, IN OUR OPINION, was a good point to bring out. The people seemed to think that the councilmen were their only elected officials. The school trustees are also elected and so are the county supervisors.

Yet, in a sort of vociferous way, it was

Plugged storm drain makes things wetter

--And a plugged drain didn't help matters!!

When this season's first heavy rainstorm hit town last week, the situation became dampish in a big way in the construction areas where the San Tomas Expressway is wending its way through town, specifically at Virginia and Campbell avenues and also on Hamilton and Budd.

The photo on the left was taken near the bridge that is under construction by the Dan L. Caputo Co., on Campbell Ave. near Virginia Ave.

This is the same spot about which the residents in the area have complained so bitterly because of the problems their children have going to and from school. Fortunately during the worst flooding, school was not in session. The photo also shows the asphalt walkway that the A. P. Raisch Co., contractors for the expressway, has built for the school children to cross at the request of the city.

The heavy rains hit just after the bridge builders had torn out the old bridge and routed traffic around the area via Dot and Rincon. Complicating matters still more, according to Bill Wren, city engineer, was that the contractor had not unplugged the new storm drains on Campbell Ave. which forced the water to back up.

"Unplugging" of the drains both on Campbell and Hamilton greatly relieved the situation, he reported.

According to the Campbell Water Co., rain guage, the storm brought 1.66 inches of rain during the four days. The total for the season is now 1.72 inches, compared to 3.77 inches at this time last year. On November 12, .54 inch was recorded and on November 14, .65 inches. Normal for this time is 1.83 inches.

On Monday again

San Tomas issue goes to Council

Should a shopping center be located at Hacienda Ave. and San Tomas Road in the San Tomas area?

Next Monday night the City Council for the third time in recent years gets another chance to answer the question. On previous occasions the Council by a divided (3-2) vote has said "no" while the Planning Commission has unanimously answered "yes".

But since the last vote by the Council on the issue, there has been a change in the council line-up. Councilman Bob McElroy one of the opponents to the center has resigned. Homer Hyde, who, as a planning commissioner voted for it, has been appointed to the council.

Hyde will take office Monday prior to the hearing.

Specifically next Monday the Council will hold a public hearing on the application of Topaz Builders for a zone change from R-1 (residential) to P-D (planned development) for property located at the northwest corner of Hacienda Ave. and San Tomas Road.

At the Planning Commission hearing on the same matter, it was explained by Dick Hogan, city planning director, that the application is substantially the same as presented previously, except for the reduction in size of one building and an increase in parking.

At the most recent commission hearing, the planners again approved the zone change after hearing from many residents in the area who have persistently and vigorously over the years endorsed the idea of a shopping center at that location. A petition with 700 signatures is on file urging the center.

Planners honor new councilman

Campbell Planning Commission members sped through a short agenda Monday night and then paid tribute to a fellow commissioner for his many years of faithful service. Homer Hyde, who takes office as a councilman next Monday, was the recipient of the acculades.

All commission members joined in citing Hyde's record as a planning commissioner as a shining example of integrity and sincerity of purpose.

In other less sentimental matters, the commission approved the recommendations of the "S" committee composed of Jack Healey and Tom Perry. The commission action okayed a sign for the Smith Tax Service, at 72 W. Campbell Ave; an awning for Speedee Burger Drive-In, 2025 Winchester; a sign for a real estate office in Kirkwood Plaza and plans for a cabinet shop to be constructed at 655 McGlincey Lane by Walley Viney.

Editorial

Qualified to serve

We are heartily in accord with the appointment of Homer Hyde to fill the vacancy on the City Council created by the resignation of Bob McElroy who has moved out of the city.

We commend the councilmen for this action. The new councilman, a native of Campbell has a long record of community service. He has been a member of the Planning Commission probably for a longer period of time than any other citizen of the community which will be of great value to him in his new position.

Planning Commission members are exposed to many of the same problems that face members of the City Council. Thus the transition period from a planning commissioner to a councilman will be a smooth one in this case. The "breaking-in" period will be lessened and the city will be the beneficiary because of it.

We have long believed that appointing a planning commissioner to the council whenever a vacancy occurs makes good logic. By their very service on the Planning Commission the members of that body have indicated their willingness to serve their community.

There will be some who will argue that "promoting" a planning commissioner may set a dangerous precedent. Such an appointment, they will argue, limits the field.

We submit that there is nothing wrong in setting a precedent, provided the precedent is based on logic. We firmly believe that the experience gained on a planning commission would be of value to any councilman.

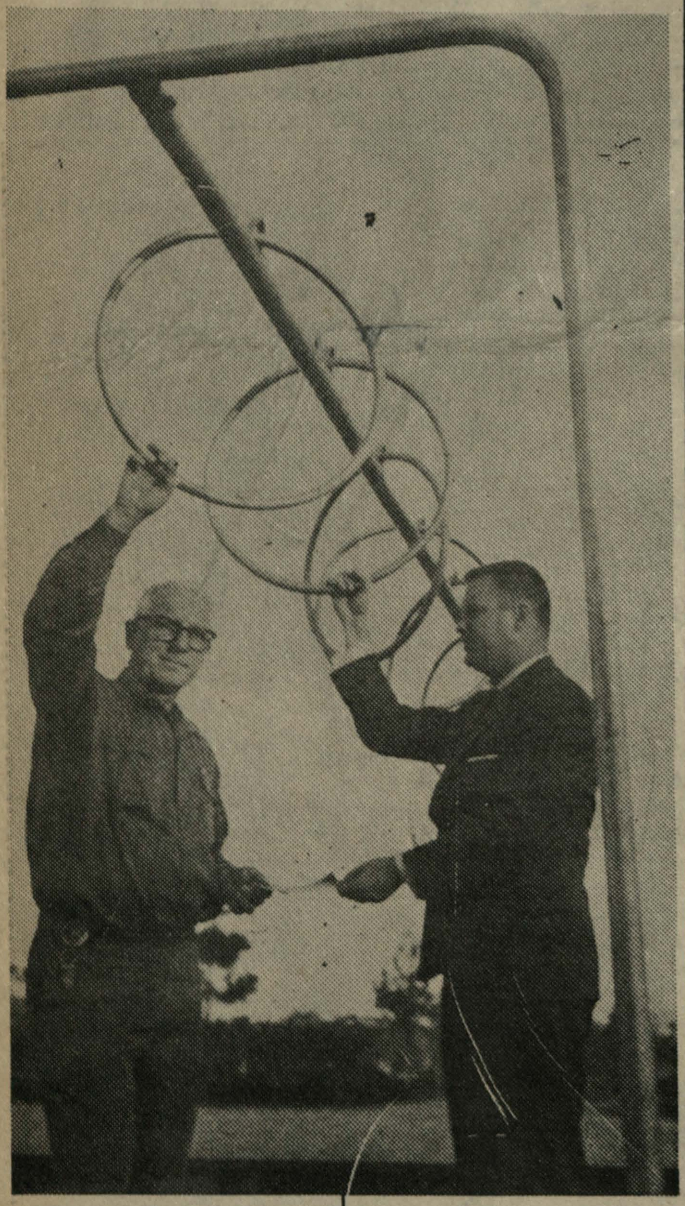
Vacancies on the City Council have occurred at only infrequent intervals in Campbell. In the 10 years that we have been in the city, the appointment of Hyde marks only the third time that a council position has been filled via the appointment route.

So we think this "precedent" bit should not cause any worry to those who feel that it limits the field. It doesn't happen often enough for that.

But when it does, the city deserves the best qualified man available.

Homer Hyde, in our book, would make a good councilman without his planning commission service.

But because of his experience on that body, he will be a better one.



GIFT FROM ROTARY CLUB--LeRoy Black (left), city park superintendent, accepts check for $105 from Jack Dawson, community service director of the Campbell Rotary Club. The check was for the new ring-swing that has been installed in the Campbell Park. Black said that other service clubs have indicated that they might make similar contributions for more playground equipment for the park.

a very healthy sign to see these upset citizens turn to their councilmen for assistance and support, both moral and otherwise.

-0-

IT PROVES the value, in our book, for good old home rule at the grass root level. The people felt they could come to their city councilmen.

For as Ken Sanders, the leading spokesman for the group, pointed out, "the citizens look to the city for traffic protection and other aspects of every day living."

And that's the way it should be, despite the fact, as is the case in this instance, that in many ways the city hands are tied legally. But there are many ways city personnel can help and the council directed the staff to do just that in this city's own version of the battle of the bulge.

SOUNDING OFF, as the citizens did at the council meeting, we maintain, is an important part of our system of democracy. Besides as a cynical newspaperman who has literally covered thousands of meetings, such verbal pyrotechnics often relieves the boredom of "covering" such meetings.

But, we also have maintained through all these years, that the "sounder-offers" need not be ill-mannered or discourteous no matter how bitter is their complaint or how severely they berate the officials.

We are well aware that when emotions are involved, tempers often get short. Yet we still think the people who address the council should at least arise from their seats when they speak.

Everyone should be heard. But, we have long believed that courtesy is a two-way street.

IF THE COUNCIL is courteous enough to listen, the people should be willing to act in the same manner in their presentations.

At council meetings in other cities that we have covered, the citizens are not limited in any way in making their feelings known. But those who have something to say only speak from the podium after first giving their names and addresses.

And, you know something, they seem to get their message across much more effectively than if they babbled from a sitting down position.

It seems to add a little more basis to their arguments.

And for sure more dignity.

A NICE GESTURE on the part of the Campbell Country Woman's Club was made at the last council meeting when Mrs. Naomi Hardison, on behalf of the club, presented the city with a water color painting of those stately walnut trees at the railroad tracks at Harrison and Campbell avenues.

Quite naturally that struck a responsive chord with us.

We have a warm spot for those trees, especially now that they have become an integral part of the masthead of this paper. They are officially recognized by the city also.

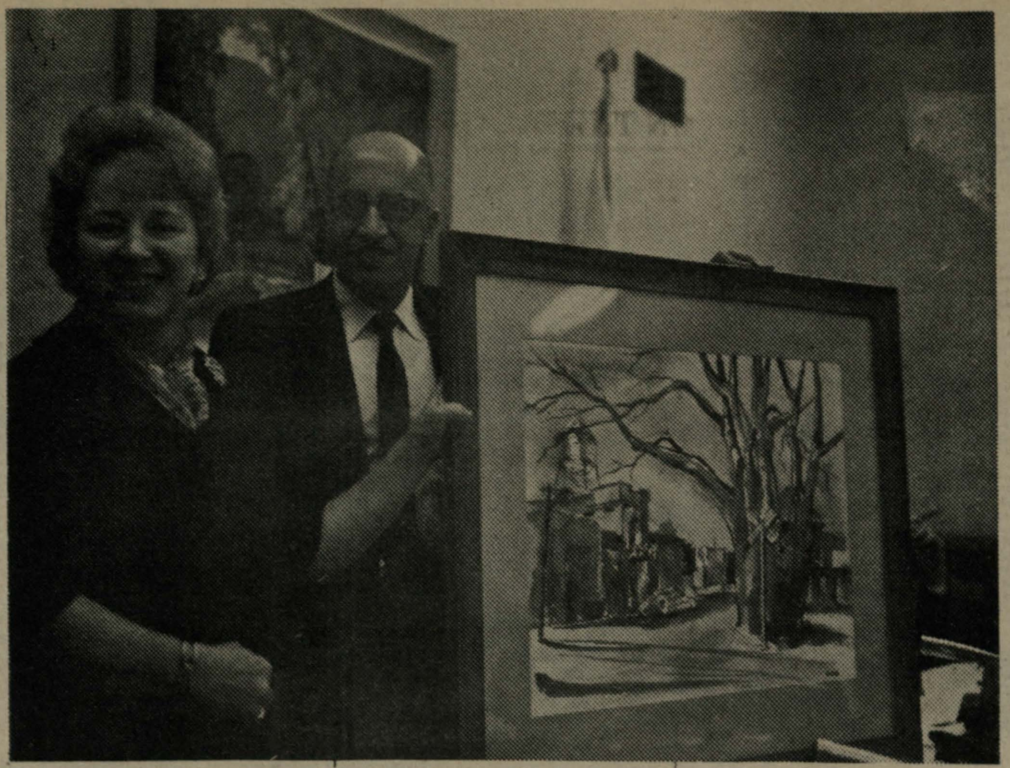
IN FACT we loaned the city staff our "cut" of the trees to put on the new city 'news letter' that goes to the employees.

The Press can't take credit for planting the trees.

But we think we had something to do with planting the idea of a needed landmark that would identify our community.



PAINTING FOR CITY HALL - This water color painting of the walnut trees at the corner of Harrison and Campbell avenues by artist Judy Howland was presented to the city by the Campbell Country Woman's Club. Making the presentation is Mrs. Loren Hardison, president of the Woman's Club. Mayor Charles Rose accepts the painting for the City Council.

Kitchen fire

An amusing bit of information was reported from the Campbell Fire Department this week. One of their calls was to the Joseph Frank Collins residence on Saturday, Nov. 13, at 1689 White Oaks Road. There was smoke coming from a kitchen drawer.

Upon investigation it was discovered to be a potholder which Collins had used and which had caught fire. Unnoticed it was returned to the drawer.

Mrs. Troedson named principal

Mrs. LaMoyne Troedson has been appointed as principal of the soon to be constructed Norman Houge Intermediate School, Cambrian School District's secont 7th and 8th grade school. The school will be located on Jacksol Avenue and is scheduled to open is September 1966.

Mrs. Troedson has been vice-principal of the Ida Price Intermediate School since it opened in 1960.

Local firms host educators today

More than 150 business people and educators were expected to attend the luncheon at Villa Felice today at the annual Business-Education Day sponsored by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

James Duffield, chamber manager, said that 91 C. of C. members and educators were scheduled to participate in a tour of individual local business firms.

Dr. C.R. Timpany, county superintendent of schools, and three of his associates, were scheduled as speakers at the luncheon.

European travel notes

By George Vierhus

Getting around London is simplified by the underground system of trains that rush swiftly about underneath the big city. We used the 'underground' or 'tube' extensively, for the Russell Square station for the Picadilly line was only two doors from our hotel.

We felt somewhat like moles as we would head for a destination away across town and stay underground for considerable length of time. A passenger buys a ticket for his destination. Then he enters the subway and can travel all day underground, provided he comes out at the proper station.

It was an interesting experience. But for a stranger it could be somewhat of an eerie one, especially if one was not sure whether the proper transfer had been made, and the train was going in the right direction. There were many times we weren't sure until the next station showed up.

There was no single highlight in our London stay. There was a whole series of 'em.

On occasions our little group went four different ways in order to hit the high spots we wanted. For example, your correspondent spent an entire morning in the world-famed British Museum. And our browsing was confined to just one section, the manuscript and historical autograph sections.

A sort of historical shiver crawled up our spine as we examined under glass the letters and documents centuries old. The scribbling of some of those old boys, we noted, was poorer than our own scrawls.

George III, we observed, had a pretty fair hand on a document dated 1760. Our visit to the museum brought history vividly to us as we read a letter from Henry VIII to Cardinal Wolsey and many other historical documents.

MAGNA CARTA

At the museum, we were especially interested in the Magna Carta display drafted in 1215. The following day we toured the Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede, adjacent to the place where King John agreed to the Magna Carta drafted by the baron which has become the basis for democratic government.

On a sunny Sunday, with London relatives of friends of ours in Sacramento, we visited Windsor Castle. Hundreds of tourists wended their way through the castle.

A Russian ship was in port and many of the tourists were Russians There were many Americans also and a surprising number of Britishers, for the British take their history seriously.

A special event was receiving the first mail from home after almost four weeks without a word from the states. London was the only definite address we had known beforehand. At the American Express office, along with letters, were four issues of The Campbell Press which were read and re-read during the next few days.

Rod Beaton, vice-president of United Press International in Europe, was host one day at a luncheon for our foursome at Les Ambassadeur's, an exclusive club.

Guests of the club at the same time were the "Beatles". But, we assure you, the decorum of the club was no more disturbed by the arrival of the famous group than by ours. Quite a contrast to the Beatles' usual reception. However, when the Beatles left, one club member sort of smiled.

Through the efforts of Beaton and the head waiter, the Beatles autographed a club menu for one of Barbara's nieces, who happens to be their ardent fan. Just imagine the squeals that the momento will bring. Yeh! Yeh!

A guided tour one day took in the famous London Tower and St. Paul's Cathedral. We also managed to "queue-up" and get in on a session of the House of Lords. We might have made the Commons, but the "queue" was too long and time too limited.

Westminster Abbey, of course, was visited and Picadilly Square. Two plays were taken in by the foursome and the gals managed to squeeze in still another one.

We stood in the rain (along with many others) to watch the changing of the guard of Buckingham Palace and from a distance we watched the queen zoom into the place in her limousine.

Five days in London were busy ones but we touched only a few of the bases...We could have spent five months.

LAST LEG

When we reached London we knew we were on the last leg of our invasion of Europe, 1965 style. The weatherman had been especially cooperative, even in Scotland. We had been a wee bit skeptical of what we would find weatherwise that far north. But needn't have worried. It was brisk but enjoyable.

Naturally we played golf at the famous St. Andrews course, where the great old game originated. Three of us went around the course in a sort of hit or miss fashion. Some holes were played well. Then there were the others.

A St. Andrews sand trap is a miniature cave..and some not so miniature...and those Scotch thistles in the rough are rough..We ought to know. We had personal contact with 'em. We left three balls there for posterity or for any one else who can find them.

Edinburgh is a beautiful town and a guided tour of that city was really educational.... The 'new town' which is 250 years old could be a model for many a modern city.

We found throughout our entire trip that no matter how densely populated a city was there were always plenty of parks.

In Edinburgh, for example, when the 'new town' was built, a huge unused moat, a gathering place for debris, was filled and made into a park...and Princess Street, the main drag, which borders it, is a wide thoroughfare even compared to today's standards.

IN DUNDEE

In Dundee, Scotland, we contacted two families who are related to the Hills' brother-in-law and we were treated as part of their families. Our hosts were two brothers, both retired, one a former coal merchant and the other a linen merchant

They insisted we stay in their homes. They took us on a tour of the highlands which included the famous beach hedge, a row of hedges one-quarter mile long and 85-feet high.

As we reported in previous issues, on our tour through England and Scotland we followed the 'bed and breakfast' route...

By this method of travel we managed to get closer to the people than if we stayed in major hotels...In addition, the 'B & B' method is economical, a major factor on a limited budget.

Admittedly in taking this route, one has to forego a few of the niceties of everyday living that we have become accustomed to in America..But one can survive.

WHAT'S DOING?

Farm-City Week is November 19-25. And here's a timely reminder from the California Farm Bureau Federation: "California is now the greatest agricultural state in the U.S.A. Every year it produces more than $3.5 billion dollars' worth of food and other crops. And one out of every three jobs in California is related to agriculture." The phone has always been important on the farm—often it was one of the few regular contacts with the "outside world." We at the phone company are proud to have played a small part in the agricultural boom.

You're always as close to home and the babysitter as the nearest telephone. When you can, it's a good idea to inform your babysitter of the telephone number where you'll be. That way, she can reach you immediately if she needs to. But if you're going to be several places during the evening, you can always call home to see if everything is all right. One of the best things about your phone is that it allows you to be in two places at once.

"Talk louder. I can't hear you." How many times have you said this over the phone? Sometimes it's not so much a matter of speaking louder, but of speaking directly into the mouthpiece of the telephone handset. When you hold the mouthpiece close to your lips, you can speak in a normal tone of voice and be heard distinctly.

Do you ever wonder what those bright yellow cones are for or why they are used? This is one of the safety precautions taken by Thomas Mobberley, your Campbell installer, and all our plant service men to signal approaching cars to use caution. (Sandra Patricia Barrett)

Sandra Barrett becomes Mrs. Gus Rogers

Now making their home in Campbell are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rogers Jr., who were married at a lovely noon ceremony at the Congregational Church of Campbell last month. The bride is the former Miss Sandra Patricia Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barrett, 928 Emory Ave., Campbell.

For her wedding day Sandra chose a full length white satin gown featuring a lace cumberbund. She carried a white Bible covered with white orchids and stephanotis. Her elbow length veil was held by a pearl studded crown.

The bride's sister, Randy Carol Barrett was the maid of honor. Her rose chiffon gown was accented with a bouquet of rose and pink carnations. Mike Sanders served as best man and Charles H. Class ushered the guests to their seats. Following a reception for friends held at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple left for a wedding trip to Reno, Nevada. Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Carparella, of Fresno, Calif., aunt and uncle of the bride.

The new Mrs. Rogers is a graduate of Campbell High School and is presently employed at O'Connor Hospital. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gus Rogers, Sr. and the late Mr. Rogers of Portland, Oregon, where he attended school.

PREPARE FOR TRIP-- Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Evert of Campbell wear Hawaiian leis in anticipation of their trip to the Hawaiian Islands in early January to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The Bill Everts celebrate 50th wedding anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary with a Hawaiian theme was celebrated recently by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Evert of 375 Sunberry Dr., Campbell. The Everts, known affectionately as Bill and Lelah by their friends and neighbors, were the guests of honor at a surprise luau held at the home of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lettow of Sunnyvale. Also present were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Evert and family of San Francisco.

Traditional presentation of leis, flowers and fishnet decorations and the abundant food of a typical luau were climaxed by the gift of a money tree and the cutting of a tiered wedding cake decorated in gold and white.

Following the pouring of a champagne toast, their granddaughter, Mrs. T. A. Kenyon performed several Hawaiian hulas.

The Everts moved to Campbell in May of 1962. Evert is a retired mechanical engineer. They are both active in Masonic circles.

The Hawaiian motif party precipitated an interest in a trip to the Hawaiian Islands, and as a result, the Everts are sailing on the Matson Liner Lurline from San Francisco on Jan. 4, 1966 and returning by plane three weeks later.

Electrolysist has new product

Mrs. Renee Towers, an electrolysist, of 2468 Stokes Ave., told the Campbell Press this week she has discovered a new liquid formula that discourages hair growth and acts as a deodorant at the same time. A patent is pending on her new product.

According to Mrs. Towers who has been a resident here for the past ten years, this new formula can be used after shaving the legs, or on beards, as it softens the hair and discourages growth.

Cambrian School District has teacher's day

The Cambrian School District recently held its annual "Good Teaching Conforence" as part of the continuing in-service training program. While the district's children had a school holiday, teachers attended this informative and interesting conference at Price and Fammatre Schools.

President Johnson referred to education as the greatest force for overcoming poverty and ignorance in the world today and as the most important factor in maintraining our democratic form of government.

Dr. Thomas Lantos, Economist and CTA official, gave an excellent address on "The Teacher Image in Our Society." He described the pre-eminence of California education, the responsibilities and privileges of academic freedom, and the anticipated effects of the Winton Act on teachers and California schools.

Price School teachers were given a special address on "The Mental Hygiene of Adolescents."

Saratoga humiliates Campbell , 53-6

by Harvey Henselman

In the toughest game of the season, against the first-place Saratoga team, Campbell was thrashed by the score of 53-6.

Campbell's only touchdown came late in the third quarter. Gary Paske, Campbell's fine quarterback, threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to his end Don Hahn. The extra point was no good and Campbell didn't score for the rest of the game.

Campbell was plagued by injuries throughout the game. Al Shimizu, one of Campbell's fine defensive ends, injured his ankle in the first quarter, and was out for the rest of the game.

Dale Daneman, last weeks stand-out, also injured his ankle. Dale's injury occurred in the fourth quarter.

Saratoga, the toughest team in the league, was sparked by their equallv tough quarterback, Steve Hanson. Hanson leads the league in scoring. Hanson has scored 76 points in league play and is an outstanding college prospect.

Campbell faces Del Mar this week. The game will begin at 3:00 and will be held on the Del Mar Football Field. This is Campbell's final game before the annual Thanksgiving Day Game.

Soph-frosh win over Saratoga

Campbell's Soph-Frosh, in her quest of the WVAL championship, beat the tough Saratoga Team, by a score of 14-13.

Campbell's first score came on a five yard dive by fullback Dick Perry. Perry has done a fine job this season, both at fullback and linebacker.

But Saratoga bounced back for two touchdowns, and when the gun sounded, ending the third quarter, the score was 13-7, Saratoga.

Then, in the fourth quarter, quarterback Chuck Hawthorne threw a thirty-five yard pass to end Stan Hedegard for the score. Hawthorne ran the extra point, and the score was 14-13.

Campbell faces Del Mar this week. This is the final game of the season for Campbell. The game will be held at Del Mar and will begin at 3:30 p.m. Come and support the Campbell Frosh-Soph team in her final game.

Horseshoe club wins crown

The Los Gatos Horseshoe Club's four-man team comprised of Connie Henderson, Jesse Gonzales, Verdan Zelmar of Campbell and Stan McCarty won the 1965 Northern California Class A League Championship with a record of six match wins, no losses and one tie.

The team won 78 games losing only 34 and averaged 62.6 percent ringers as a team. Connie Henderson, newly crowned club champion, was the No. 1 pitcher in Northern California league competition winning 20 of 24 games.

Vikings lose to Monterey

Monterey Peninsula's Lobos spoiled the West Valley Vikings' chances of a Coast Conference title and a possible bid to the Prune Bowl with a decisive 22-0 victory Saturday night on the muddy Monterey turf.

Fullback Charlie Whitcomb banged out 142 yards in 21 carries to lead the Monterey attack.

After a scoreless first quarter, Monterey started to roll.

The loss broke the Vikings' five game win streak and gives them a 4-1 conference mark while the Lobos remain undefeated with a 5-0 record.

Since there was a three day week there isn't too much to write about. Del Mar had its first assembly yesterday. The assembly consisted of previews of the coming Senior Play "Tea House of the August Moon".

This year Del Mar's senior play will run for three nights; Thursday, Nov. 18, Friday, Nov. 19, Saturday, Nov. 20. Tickets may be purchased from any senior at Del Mar.

Del Mar's Homecoming Dance looks like it will be a real success. The Deb's are working on acquiring three or four bands to provide the entertainment. This dance is open to any student past or present of Del Mar, price is 50 cents.

Del Mar lost to Saratoga, Friday, Nov. 5. The B's fought hard against the Saratoga Falcon's, but were beaten by a score of 26-13. The Varsity lost by a score of 41-0. Friday, Nov. 12, Del Mar played Westmont. B's played at 11 a.m. and the Varsity team at 1 p.m.

BLACKFORD BEAT

BY DIANE GIPSON CAROL COOK

Blackford students were off last Thursday and Friday from school and I'm sure they all enjoyed their vecations.

The dance held in the Blackford Gym last Wednesday night was a huge success. All of the proceeds from the dance went to the Senior Class Treasury as the Seniors won the Student Body Card sales with 90%. The Sophomores finished second with 82%; the Freshmen came in third with 80% and the Juniors finished last with 71%. The Tikis provided entertainment for the students.

The games scheduled with Los Gatos for last Friday night were cancelled because of poor weather conditions.

The P. T. A. membership drive, officially ends Wednesday, Nov. 17. As of now, the Seniors lead, followed by the Freshmen, then the Sophomores and lastly the Juniors.

The week before the homecoming game has been declared Spirit Week. All week long there will be rallies held and the spirit at Blackford will be at its peak.

BUC BANTER

BY MARY KNOWLES

While browsing through the library the other day, I came across some old Orioles. The Oriole first originated as a literary magazine published monthly. In 1921 the Oriole became a yearbook and has remained as such since then. The motto of the class of 1921 was "Build for character, not for fame", and their class colors were old blue and orange. The class consisted of 29 members.

The new 1965-6 Oriole staff has the yearbook plans rolling. On Sept. 21, Mr. J. P. Meyers, representative of the American Yearbook Co. was on hand to introduce the various aspects of the work involved in putting together a good yearbook.

Once again, Mr. Ed Nehrig will act as advisor, with Bruce Wright as editor. Other staff members are: Eldora McCoul, Garron Hanley, Adele Quinn, Shirley Baldwin, Dianne Rawlinson, Cheryl Coffman, Paul Wagner and Harold Bain.

During this week the music and P.E. departments are holding a candy sale. They will be selling "World's Finest Candy." The proceeds will go for atheletic equipment and completion of payments for the new band uniforms.

Campbell is now a branch of Quill and Scroll. To be a member, one must be in the upper third of his class, a Junior or Senior, and on the staff of the school paper. Being a member of Quill and Scroll entitles one to many advantages such as having the paper analyzed and compared to other papers across the nation. Our members are: Shirley Baldwin, Tom Hudec, Dave Turner, Joel Franks, Kay Corcoran, Mary Knowles, Al Wong, Val Bosler, Sandy Curry, and Bob Kelly.

COACH AL MATTHEWS

Coach Matthews, known as Al to his fellow coaches, attended Monterey High School and Monterey Peninsula College. Subsequently, he received a scholarship to San Jose State, where he majored in physical education. He was the starting halfback on the San Jose State football team in his junior year, and a fullback in his senior year.

His brother, Larry, who is head football coach at Los Gatos High School was also on the same San Jose State team.

The "Eve of Destruction" descended upon us last week as the end of the first quarter drew near. But, cheer up fellow sufferers, there are three more quarters in which to redeem ourselves.

CAMBRIAN ARTISTS

The Cambrian Artists' League will meet Nov. 17, at the Cambrian Bowl, 14900 Camden Ave., at 8 p.m.

WARRIOR WAYS

BY LYNDA WYCKOFF

WESTMONTS JUNIOR JOURNALISM class under the direction of Mrs. Phelps is holding a car wash on Saturday, Nov. 20, at the gas station at Westgate. The cost per car will be $1.00. The proceeds of the event are being used for secret purposes.

Pep Club, under the direction of Sue Wadleigh has been very busy this first quarter and foresees an even busier second quarter. The girls have been doing a great job at the games.

Last week the students enjoyed a relaxing four day week-end to commemorate Veterans Day and the end of the first quarter. Only three more to go and we face another summer!

WARRIOR OF THE WEEK

Steve Bennett

Steve Bennett, a sophomore at Westmont, spent the summer in San Felipe, Mexico building a house for a mother and her four children. Steve, with other members of his youth group from the United Church of Christ of Campbell went to Mexico on a goodwill mission to help the people in any way they could. According to Steve the living standards of San Felipe are deplorable. "Although it is relatively clean there, the people are very very poor" says Steve.

One must buy all his drinking water as the water available is not drinkable. They took most of their own food along but did get a chance to eat some Mexican food.

It took them thirty days to complete the house. They hired a Mexican worker to help them build the six room house. The worker was payed $12.00 a week and this was quite enough to support himself and his family.

When they had finished the house the town held a feast and killed a goat to cook along with other Mexican dishes.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The August 23 issue of U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT carried a description of a "Community Action Training Center" at Syracuse University, largely financed by federal anti-poverty funds. The objective of the training according to U.S. NEWS is to create organizations among low-income groups that can achieve power and exercise it in their self-interest."

Serving as a paid consultant and lecturer in the program is Saul D. Alinsky, a self-styled "professional radical" whose trade, according to one of the writers for HARPER'S MAGAZINE, is "inciting municipal jitters". He runs an organization supported by civic and religious groups to train organizers in "the tactics of social revolution".

Alinsky's basic premise seems to be that the struggle against poverty must be a class movement. He says, "The only way the poor are going to get what they need is through strong, militant organizations of their own."

In a DETROIT FREE PRESS article, he adds: "In the war against poverty..the obstacles that must be moved are 'respectable' interests that get their income from the deprived and defenseless... They play rough, and you have to play rough against them."

While lecturing to 50 ministers for three weeks at Claremont College, he said, "The only way to upset the power structure in your communities is to goad them, confuse them, irritate them..."

The first sentence of his forthcoming book, "Rules for Revolution", reads: "Machiavelli wrote 'The Prince' to tell the 'haves' to keep it; this is a book to tell the 'have nots' how to take it away."

Alinsky's conception of democracy is peculiarly his own. "All I stand for," he says, "is real democracy and that means popular participation and militant organization." He says repeatedly "revolutionary changes never occur without conflict... There is no evolution without revolutions."

These quotations by Alinsky are not isolated nor out of context. They do, in my opinion, honestly reflect what he consistently declares in a rather colorful manner.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) is quick to deny Alinsky as one of their employees and shifts the complete responsibility to Syracuse University even though his salary originates from the taxpayers. The defensive attitude suggests that Alinsky and the Training Center are sources of embarrassment to OEO.

Though Saul Alinsky doesn't direct them, it is interesting that the Poverty Program is financing at least two other "Community Action Training Programs".

$267,887 was recently awarded a striking farm labor union to train 31 persons to teach "citizenship rights and responsibilities" to workers. Another grant of $100,000 went to a labor organizer in Ventura County to "train community action program aides".

Will Alinsky's beliefs and techniques be taught in all such programs? It is not enough for OEO to shift responsibility for him to Syracuse University. Either they endorse his methods or admit they have no control over a program paid for with taxpayers' money. Which?

Grass Roots

BRIGHTEN UP WITH BERRIES

It's that time again. The time when gardens need all the color they can get. With Thanksgiving just around the corner and the holiday season on its way, you'll want yours to look its brightest and best. And there's nothing more cheerful than masses of shiny, red berries to welcome family and friends.

Hollies, pyracanthas, toyons and nandinas all have their places in California gardens. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen report that hybridizers have made so many improvements in berried plants that gardeners not only have their choice in sizes and shapes to suit their landscape, but thanks to the fine new varieties, they can be assured of the finest crops of berries any gardeners could ask.

If you haven't much room for shrubs, don't let that stop you from adding red-berried plants. Several of the newest hollies, pyracanthas and nandinas are tailored especially for container planting or display in a small border. "Tiny Tim" pyracantha for example won't ever grow over three feet, and it spreads it's cinnamon-red berries in profuse clusters on a delightful mounding green plant. In this class keep in mind the new Dwarf Burford Holly too. It's an excellent choice for mild climates, and it's size doesn't stop it from producing a fine crop of bright red berries. In an Oriental or tropical planting, you can't feature a better fall and winter performer than the compact new nandinas. (Heavenly Bamboo) The fact that their shiny clusters of scarlet berries are backed up by lacy scarlet foliage makes them a popular entry and patio choice.

If you have larger areas to plant -- or if you are looking at your garden with remodeling in mind -- this is an ideal time to choose good evergreens for hedges, dividers, foundation shrubs or groundcovers. C.A.N. nurseries are receiving large shipments of the best in landscape shrubs. Planted now they will get a good start in the still-warm autumn soil, establish themselves in the winter rains.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. Some of our older people who have already signed up for the Medicare program are wondering about whether to continue paying premiums on any other health insurance policies they may already have.

A. They should not drop their present health insurance coverage because of the new law. As you know, Medicare coverage does not begin until July 1, 1966. So, even if you intend to sign up for health insurance protection under Medicare, you will want the protection of your present health insurance policy in the months before Medicare begins. Also, it would be well for you to check with your insurance man regarding possible changes in your present health insurance coverage. Some insurance companies are considering changes which may provide coverage of certain items or services which will not be covered by the Medicare program.

Q. How can a person over 65 who would like to enroll in the voluntary medical insurance plan arrange to pay the $3 monthly premium?

A. If he is receiving social security, civil service, or railroad retirement benefits, he will have the premium deducted from his monthly benefits. If he is not entitled to any of these retirement benefits, he will get information about how to pay the premiums from his social security office when he goes in to enroll.

Q. When a person 65 or over has to go to a hospital, how will he be able to show that he is registered for health insurance benefits?

A. Some time before July of next year everyone who is eligible will receive a wallet-sized health insurance card in the mail, showing that he is entitled to hospital insurance benefits. If he is enrolled in the medical insurance program, the card will show that, too. Whenever he uses any of the covered services, he should show this card to the people at the hospital, nursing home, or doctor's office providing the service.

UNICEF greeting cards on sale at post Office

United Nations Childrens Fund Christmas greeting cards are being offered for sale in the lobby of the Campbell Post office beginning Nov. 15, according to an announcement by Postmaster James M. Hurley. Members of the Campbell chapter of the United States Committee for UNICEF will be stationed in the lobby to handle the sales.

In authorizing the lobby sales Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said "Since its inception in 1946 UNICEF has helped children to a better, fuller, healthier life. Proceeds from one box of cards can provide the vaccine to protect 50 children against tuberculosis."

Postmaster Hurley said there would be no interference with regular postal activities and there would be no active solicitation of postal patrons by the UNICEF representatives. Sales would be restricted to the assigned area and the Post Office will not provide any equipment. There will be no expense to the Government.

SORT OF WETTISH--Campbell Ave. in the construction area of the San Tomas Expressway where the new bridge is being built was a quagmire during the heavy downpour last week. The situation was aggravated because a storm drain was plugged.

LOTS OF WATER--A plugged storm drain added to the moisture in the area on Campbell Ave. where the San Tomas Expressway cuts through. A new bridge is being constructed which necessitated the closing of Campbell Ave. and the rerouting of traffic around the area.

TAKING IT EASY--Cars moved slowly during last week's rain storm through the mud and water on Campbell Ave. where the new bridge is being constructed. Traffic was routed around the area for several days necessitating sloshing through mud and water.

Noted novelist at West Valley College tonight

Two appearances at West Valley College have been scheduled today, Wednesday, Nov. 17, by Harry Mark Petrakis, outstanding young novelist and television writer.

Petrakis, who has made a reputation for the warmth and wit of his lectures as well as his free lance writing ability, will appear in the college auditorium at 12:30 p.m., during the activities hour, and again at 8 p.m. Both lectures are free to the public.

His first Novel, "Lion at my Heart," was published in 1959 and immediately bought up by the Columbia Broadcasting System for television adaptation. A short story collection, "Pericles on 31st Street," won a citation from Atlantic Monthly and also was adapted for television.

The second novel, "Odyssey of Kostas Volakis," has won three major literary awards since 1963. In 1962-63 he was nominated by the TV-Radio Writer Guild of America for the best-written script in the field of television anthology drama (seen on the Dick Powell Theater).

Door prizes will be a week-end for two at Las Vegas. Dancing will follow the fashion show with music by Paul Basham and his orchestra.

Indian Guides elect officers

Members of two Campbell "tribes" have been elected to the high council of the Sequoia Nation of "Y" Indian Guides. They were installed in office at a recent meeting of the Sequoia Nation Longhouse Council at the Southwest Branch, YMCA, headquarters in Los Gatos.

Robert W. (Red Fox) Dell, a member of Campbell's Pomo Tribe, is the new tallykeeper for the Nation. John E. (Walking Buffalo) Gonzales Jr., of Campbell's Arapaho Tribe, is wampum bearer.

Another member of the Arapaho Tribe, John (Big Eagle) Hawkins, stepped down after serving a year as Sequoia Nation chief. He turned over his headdress to David (Thunder Cloud) Roe of Cambrian Park's Navajo tribe.

Other new officers are Army Capt. Robert (Iron Horse) Gleason, of Cambrian Park's Cheyenne Tribe, assistant chief, and David (Still Water) Gray, of Cambrian Park's Shawnee Tribe, medicine man.

by a 3-2 vote turned down the center last time. Mayor Charles Rose and Councilman Ed Rogers and Bob McElroy voted against it. Councilman Ralph Doetsch and Bill Snead favored it.

In voting against the proposed center, Mayor Rose maintained that some sort of guide-line for improvement of the area was needed before any new development was approved. Since that time, the city staff has assembled available planning information from various agencies to give some idea of what the future holds for the area.

On Monday's agenda also is the hearing on the appeal of a Planning Commission ruling denying a zone change request for Baker Trailer Sales on Bascom Ave. The planners unanimously denied the zone change which has been complicated by a variance on property used by the trailer sales firm. Former Mayor John M. Chargin, a San Jose attorney, is representing Baker Trailer Sales.

New Books at the Campbell Library

THE CULTURE CONSUMERS by Alvin Toffler

A Controversial Study of Culture and Affluence in America.

One of the most startling changes in American life since the end of World War II has been the rise of the culture consumer. Orchestras, theaters, ballet companies and art galleries all report record-breaking turn-outs in recent years. This "culture-boom" has been praised and pooh-poohed, hailed as a renaissance and denounced as a fraud. Here for the first time is a careful, colorful explanation of its causes and meanings.

THE REAL VOICE by Richard Harris

The first fully documented account of Congress at work; Senator Estes Kefauver's investigation of the drug industry and the battle over a new law to protect the neglected American consumer. Few senators in history have been as dedicated to the public interest as Estes Kefauver, and this book serves as a memorial to what was probably his most dedicated single fight.

Fire Department offers suggestions for a safe Thanksgiving Day

With the holiday season drawing near, the Campbell Fire Department would like to help you enjoy a fire safe Thanksgiving. We have prepared these suggestions for fire safety:

1. At the top of the list of fire causes are smoldering butts and sparks from cigarettes and other smoking materials. They are responsible for tens of thousands of fires each year. Make sure that at all holiday gatherings, there are an adequate number of large ashtrays available.

2. When cooking your holiday dinner you should be alerted to keep grease containers away from your stove. Also, you can avoid a grease fire if you clean out your oven regularly to prevent an accumulation of grease.

3. The important thing if fire strikes, is getting everyone out of the house, especially during the holiday season when you may have house guests who may not be familiar with your home.

4. Decide how you would be able to save your family and guest's lives if you were to awake and smell smoke.

5. Figure out two possible routes to the ground from upstairs bedrooms. It is unlikely that both escape routes would be cut off by the flames during the early stage of the fire.

6. If a fire starts, arouse everyone in the house. Make it your first duty to get everyone out of the house.

7. When everyone is out - call the fire department.

8. Have the fire department phone number posted at your telephone.

If you are planning on having a baby sitter during the Thanksgiving holiday, the Campbell Fire Department offers these suggestions to keep your holiday a merry one:

1. Know the sitter: Make inquiries about training and family background.

2. Employ only sitters who have a sense of responsibility and who like children.

3. Try to have the same sitter regularly if possible, and one who lives nearby.

4. Have a preliminary interview with sitter. Acquaint her with children and pets, especially the watchdog.

5. Give instructions orally and leave them in writing.

6. Show sitter all exits and how to get children out of the house in case of fire.

7. Give the sitter the telephone number of the fire department, family doctor and place to which they (parents or adult members of the family are going). Also, what neighbor to call in the event of any emergency.

8. If there is no phone, explain to sitter other means of notifying the fire department.

9. Caution sitter against permitting children to play with matches, electric cords or other electric appliances. Also tell her to keep the child out of the kitchen, if possible.

10. If sitter is to bathe youngsters, make certain that she has had such experience.

11. Leave a first aid kit with sitter and explain how to take care of simple burns, cuts and bruises.

12. Be sure sitter understands that in a fire emergency she should get the child out of the house, then call the fire department, then notify parents.

13. Provide flashlights for use in case lighting should fail.

14. Always come home at the hour agreed upon; telephone if delayed.

15. Make suitable and safe arrangements for accompanying the sitter home.

Every hour fire destroys 67 American homes, every hour and 20 minutes, one person dies in a fire. The Campbell Fire Department has prepared these suggestions to help you enjoy a safe and happy holiday season.
